Challenges and successes are part of our journey in life. We thrive in each step we take. We do not succumb to hopelessness and despair. Jesus is with us along the way. Think about the footprints in the sand. He does not abandon us in times of crisis. He carries us. He walks with a joyful heart side by side with us when the storm comes, and He remains with us long after it passes.

This manifestation of coping, acceptance and thriving in His presence is best seen during COVID-19. Many of us suffered directly or indirectly from the afflictions of the disease. We mourn for those who have died, we pray to heal those who are ill, and we send our families and friends to battle the unseen enemy. And yes, we also thrive.

Hail to the Mariposa Corner contributors! Your articles depict your take on the current times and personal experiences. Your honest and sincere words have become the foundation of our vigorous recovery. You propel us forward in great hope that we continue to live in Grace.

Our deepest thanks and utmost gratitude to you and the readers. Hand-in-hand, we succeed.
