ONWARD...

The year 2021 is coming to an end. We see the dawn of recovery from the misery and suffering the infamous COVID-19 wrought. Vaccination is highly encouraged and sometimes mandated while disagreement, dissension, and protests ensue.

Right now, the world is seemingly divided. Yet, together, we continue to thrive.

Many have died while many of us still live.

Although the world might be one, we do not recognize, we hope, we cope, and we make the best of what is now.

Ultreya! Onward my friends.

In the valley of darkness, let the sunshine in.
In the midst of tears, let there be laughter.
In pain and suffering, let there be healing.
Let there be the world we make together, now and forever.
